From Southern Brazil to Texas, the Austin location celebrates Fogo de Chão's ranching heritage. An elegant front porch complete with open flame rotisserie welcomes guests to the restaurant, conveniently located across from the Austin Convention Center and just blocks from the Capitol Building. Inside, a rustic color palette together with dark woods and natural and polished stones complement the murals depicting Southern Brazilian ranch life. Diners will relish the joining of two cultures united by a love of land and beef.

The dining area seats 300 guests, and both private and semi-private dining rooms, complete with multi-media capabilities, are available for groups ranging from 35 to 200. A spacious roof top deck offers an additional venue for hosting events.

Valet parking is offered during lunch and dinner, and limited metered parking, free after 5:30 pm, is available on the street..
